

Cybersecurity Solutions

Manage and Maintain

Reliable, sustainable and independent cybersecurity solutions for industries.

Challenge

Maintenance of Operational Technologies (OT) to comply with evolving regulations and ensuring business continuity are important in any industry. For industries in the critical sector (such as nuclear, utilities, transportation systems, defense, heavy process industries) previous requirements combines with Long Term Operations (LTO) and “system-of-systems” design where risk mitigation solutions has to explore all security options that are technically compliant and economically reasonable.

Solution

For over 60 years, Framatome has been designing nuclear power plants, manufacturing components, integrating instrumentation and control systems, and servicing all types of nuclear reactors. We understand the unique needs and challenges of critical asset owners with respect to security of control systems.

From our experience in securing, maintaining, and designing critical assets for the nuclear industry, Framatome and FoxGuard Solutions offers independent cybersecurity solutions to optimize and protect critical OT infrastructure following local regulations around the world.

Our approach to asset maintenance and risk mitigation is flexible and customizable to our customers’ needs. Whether you are trying to bolster your existing cybersecurity plan, or developing one from the ground-up, we can provide sustainable solutions fitting budgets and targets.
